CHRYSANTHEMUM TROUGH

$4,580

c. 1800 • Shanxi, China • Limestone • Collection #W009

W: 57.75″ D: 19.5″ H: 12.0″

Prized mounts once took refreshment from this stone trough, carved from a solid block of limestone more than one hundred years ago. Once purely functional, the trough is celebrated today for its elegant form, rustic authenticity, and beautifully textured carved surface. Three lush chrysanthemum blossoms adorn the trough's side, symbols of autumn and joviality. A wonderful addition to the garden, this trough has been drilled with a drainage hole and can be filled with lush greenery or striking floral arrangements.
