BRASS RELIEF SPOUTING BOWL

$480

Late 20th Century • China • Brass • Collection #CKD001

H: 6.5" Dia: 15.5"

Known as a spouting bowl or resonance bowl, this brass water bowl with handles has a flared shape designed to magnify vibrations moving through its water contents. By rubbing a flat palm back and forth across the handles, the user sends vibrations through the basin and in turn through the water, causing the surface to ripple, spout, and dance about. The brass bowl is cast in low relief with motifs relating to water, including cloud-form scrollwork, crashing waves, and four sinuous dragons blowing fountains of water up the sides. Continued...

BRASS RELIEF SPOUTING BOWL

Textured by a light patina of verdigris oxidation, we love this charming bowl as a catch-all, planter, or decorative centerpiece.
