PAIR OF HO HO BOY OIL LAMPS

$258

c. 1900 • China • Ceramic • Collection #CMK084F

W: 1.5" D: 1.5" H: 3.25"

These early 20th-century ceramic oil lamps are formed in the shape of a young boy, a motif often referred to as a "ho ho boy." Children were a popular motif in Chinese art, and were considered lucky talismans, especially for prospective parents. As though balancing a basket on his head, each ho ho boy is topped with a small cup for burning oil, possibly for use during ancestor worship on a domestic altar.
