CINNABAR GLAZED GARDEN STOOL

$1,580

c. 1900 • Southern China, China • Ceramic • Collection #BJAA123

H: 19.75" Dia: 17.5"

Hand-formed by an artisan in southern China, this early 20th-century garden stool has a traditional drum-form design. Ringing both its top and bottom, a pattern of boss-head nails imitates those used to stretch a skin on an actual drum. Interlocking double coin motifs pattern the stool's sides, symbols of good fortune and prosperity. The stool is cloaked in a beautiful, dark cinnabar glaze, which drips and pools over its detailed form. Traditionally used as a place to rest one's feet, a stool like this is perfect as a garden seat or side table.
