PAINTED GUATEMALAN SLINGSHOT

$388

Mid-20th Century • Central America • Pigment, Wood • Collection #CBH140

W: 1.25" D: 1.0" H: 5.75"

This petite wooden figure is actually a hand-carved slingshot created by a Maya artisan of Guatemala. Traditionally used to hunt small game, slingshot handles were carved of dense hardwoods into decorative forms such as animals, people, or mythical figures. A charming example of this folk craft, the painted slingshot is elevated for display on a custom steel mount.
