QUILT WARMER VESSEL

$288

c. 1900 • Shanxi, China • Ceramic • Collection #BJGG033C

H: 4.5" Dia: 9.0"

This unusual squat vessel would have been kept near a kang platform to warm one's blankets before bed. Much like a hot water bottle, the ceramic vessel was filled with hot water through the narrow top opening and placed beneath layers of quilts to slowly radiate heat. Beautifully symmetrical with a monochrome finish, we love this low vessel as an unexpected ikebana vase or a sculptural object.
